

- Your company rents apartments to university students.
- About each apartment we record its address, the advertised weekly rent, the number of bedrooms, and the number of car spaces.
- We store the name and phone number of each tenant.
- When a new tenancy begins, we record the date the tenant moved in, and the rent they will be charged. When the tenancy is over and the tenant moves out of the property, we record the date they left.
- To manage customer relationships, we keep track of every contact we have with tenants, recording who we interacted with, the date and time, and notes about the conversation.
